

Inventing the villain

As well as motives, giving your baddy redeeming features can help to show their human side and reveal that they're not all bad.

Perhaps your villain:

- Has a brilliant sense of humour and a joke for every occasion?
- Has a pet that they love above everything else?
- Has a moment of kindness and lets the hero escape?

Can you think of any other redeeming features your villain could have?

Inventing a villain

Name: ..... Date: .....

Use the space below to start creating your villain...

Villain's name: .....

Draw your villain here:	Describe their appearance:
Describe their personality:	Do they have any redeeming features?

What villainous things do they do?
Is there a motive for why they do these things?